
emotional intelligence presentation Hope everyone's feeling well

Posted by Ryka - 2008/11/18 07:30

I hope this Sunday finds the ailing ones feeling much better and the healthy ones feeling great. We've had a lot of heat and humidity here in FL (no surprise, huh?) which makes outdoor work unpleasant. Thank God for cool evenings and swimming pools!

=====

emotional intelligence presentation Hope everyone's feeling well

Posted by fmomoon - 2008/11/18 07:30

evenings and swimming pools! I just got home yesterday. The heat here in California is worse than what I found in Utah and Colorado. Good grief!

=====

emotional intelligence presentation Hope everyone's feeling well

Posted by Angel - 2008/11/18 07:30

found in Utah and Colorado. Good grief!

=====

emotional intelligence presentation Hope everyone's feeling well

Posted by Angel - 2008/11/18 07:30

evenings and swimming pools! Thanks. I'm spending a quiet day with DH taking medicine and resting. :)

=====

emotional intelligence presentation Hope everyone's feeling well

Posted by fmomoon - 2008/11/18 07:30

I found in Utah and Colorado. Good grief!

=====

emotional intelligence presentation Hope everyone's feeling well

Posted by fmomoon - 2008/11/18 07:30

found in Utah and Colorado. Good grief! I thought it was always nice weather in California and you just had to watch out for earthquakes? :) Will Watching does no good. Those things don't happen when you are watching. <g It is 101 here right now. Yipes!

=====

emotional intelligence presentation Hope everyone's feeling well

Posted by Angel - 2008/11/18 07:30

I just got home yesterday. The heat here in California is worse than what I found in Utah and Colorado. Good grief!

=====

emotional intelligence presentation Hope everyone's feeling well

Posted by Angel - 2008/11/18 07:30

found in Utah and Colorado. Good grief! I thought it was always nice weather in California and you just had to watch out for earthquakes? :) Will That's what DH told me to get me to move out here. He said it never rains in Southern CA (they'd had a six year drought). The day I arrived, it started raining. And the end of the drought followed. :)

=====

emotional intelligence presentation Hope everyone's feeling well

Posted by moonteacher - 2008/11/18 07:30

found in Utah and Colorado. Good grief! I thought it was always nice weather in California and you just had to watch out for earthquakes? :) Will It's nice if you go to the beach and stay away from the inland valleys where all the heat gets trapped up against the mountains. Unfortunately, I don't have an extra fifteen mil lying around waiting for me to buy a beach house, so my little weekend trips will have to do. Eileen

=====

emotional intelligence presentation Hope everyone's feeling well

Posted by Ryka - 2008/11/18 07:30

evenings and swimming pools! Hiya Ryka. It's three in the afternoon and I just got up. :) I had a human development class from 5 till 10 on Friday evening and it continued the next day from 8 in the morning until 5 in the evening all day Saturday. I stayed up until 3 Saturday morning finishing my literature review that I had to present to the class that day. Yes, I do procrastinate. :) So, I'm catching up on sleep today. But I did get an A on both the lit review and my presentation (separate grades). I did my paper on emotional intelligence in the classroom. I find emotional intelligence a very interesting topic. We can be brilliant in our chosen field. But if we don't have emotional intelligence, chances are that we won't be successful because we won't know how to get along with other people. Besides having skills in our career field, I believe it's important to have emotional intelligence and also to understand systems theory. We need to have the skills to do our job. We need to have emotional intelligence to have positive interaction with others. And we need to have an understanding of systems theory to understand why things happen in an organization. What we do affect others and what others do affects us in an organization. Understanding how the system is set up and why things happens can help someone wanting to survive in an organization and especially someone wanting to advance within an organization. Systems theory can apply to any organization... to include helping to explain the dynamics of your family interactions. Are you still awake? :) So, that was my weekend... school and now relaxing getting ready for a new week. I hope your day is going well too. Will

=====

emotional intelligence presentation Hope everyone's feeling well

Posted by Angel - 2008/11/18 07:30

in Southern CA (they'd had a six year drought). The day I arrived, it started raining. And the end of the drought followed. :) I remember a song about it never raining in southern California (Neil Diamond?). And then you got there and made the song obsolete. :) Yep. That's about it.

=====

emotional intelligence presentation Hope everyone's feeling well

Posted by Angel - 2008/11/18 07:30

met those people who are brilliant in their chosen profession but have no people skills so keep getting fired and have no social life (stereotype: the brilliant professor who can't relate to his students or peers). That's an example of someone with low emotional intelligence. If you're interesting in learning more about it, there are thousands of web sites that discuss emotional intelligence. Also, Daniel Goleman is the author who first popularized the concept and has written a couple books on the topic. My leg is all healed with the infection being completely gone. So, I am feeling a lot better now. Thanks for asking. Has your foot healed completely from the horse stepping on it? Will Will, so glad your leg is better. I know those things can be tricky.

=====

emotional intelligence presentation Hope everyone's feeling well

Posted by Ryka - 2008/11/18 07:30

intelligence - I've taken a lot of psych courses but don't think I ever heard this discussed. Your theory sounds like one worth study - a study that can be applied (the important part of studies). Your leg must be doing better and that's good to hear too.

=====

emotional intelligence presentation Hope everyone's feeling well

Posted by fmomoon - 2008/11/18 07:30

It is 101 here right now. Yipes! 101 degrees? Wow! That is way too hot for me. Is it a dry heat or is it humid too? It's the humidity that kills me. When I was in Las Vegas, the heat wasn't that bothersome because it was such low humidity. Although, burning your fingers touching the steering wheel wasn't much fun. :) Will Humid! I went to the movies today for some relief. See Pirates of the Caribbean if you can. It was wonderful.

=====

emotional intelligence presentation Hope everyone's feeling well

Posted by moonteacher - 2008/11/18 07:30

so my little weekend trips will have to do. Eileen Housing sounds kind of expensive out there. The most expensive houses in this area only go for around one million. I guess a view of a corn field doesn't cost as much as a view of the ocean. :) Will I spent the weekend just north of Del Mar. We walked by a real estate agent's office that had photos in the window of several ocean view properties for sale. The most expensive one was a little over 20 million. And property taxes would be....oh right around 250 thousand a year. Any takers? :) I can't even afford the corn fields! lol Eileen

=====

emotional intelligence presentation Hope everyone's feeling well

Posted by colomoon - 2008/11/18 07:30

Ah, yes, southwest Colorado in July...and Utah!! Did you enjoy your trip? See lots of neat nifty stuff? Wave towards Denver??

=====

emotional intelligence presentation Hope everyone's feeling well

Posted by colomoon - 2008/11/18 07:30

human development class from 5 till 10 on Friday evening and it continued the next day from 8 in the morning until 5 in the evening all day Saturday. I stayed up until 3 Saturday morning finishing my literature review that I had to present to the class that day. Yes, I do procrastinate. :) So, I'm catching up on sleep today. But I did get an A on both the lit review and my presentation (separate grades). I did my paper on emotional intelligence in the classroom. I find emotional intelligence a very interesting topic. We can be brilliant in our chosen field. But if we don't have emotional intelligence, chances are that we won't be successful because we won't know how to get along with other people. Besides having skills in our career field, I believe it's important to have emotional intelligence and also to understand systems theory. We need to have the skills to do our job. We need to have emotional intelligence to have positive interaction with others. And we need to have an understanding of systems theory to understand why things happen in an organization. What we do affect others and what others do affects us in an organization. Understanding how the system is set up and why things happens can help someone wanting to survive in an organization and especially someone wanting to advance within an organization. Systems theory can apply to any organization... to include helping to explain the dynamics of your family interactions. Are you still awake? :) So, that was my weekend... school and now relaxing getting ready for a new week. I hope your day is going well too. Will

=====

emotional intelligence presentation Hope everyone's feeling well

Posted by fmomoon - 2008/11/18 07:30

Ah, yes, southwest Colorado in July...and Utah!! Did you enjoy your trip? See lots of neat nifty stuff? Wave towards Denver?? I did wave toward Denver. That one is on my list for the next road trip. :) I went on the Durango/Silverton Railroad, Mesa Verde and the Colorado Monument. Neat! I also visited Bryce, Zion, SLC, Yellowstone, Lake Powell, Monument Valley and lots of other neat stuff. I'm embarrassed to say how many rolls of film I took. :)

=====

emotional intelligence presentation Hope everyone's feeling well

Posted by res03hyn - 2008/11/18 07:30

evenings and swimming pools!

=====

emotional intelligence presentation Hope everyone's feeling well

Posted by res03hyn - 2008/11/18 07:30

Humid! I went to the movies today for some relief. See Pirates of the Caribbean if you can. It was wonderful.

=====